Mass Envirothon Frequently Asked Questions

What should I wear?

The Envirothon is held in the field, rain or shine or wind or mud. Please dress accordingly! Some specific items to bring: an extra layer for cooler weather than you expect, raingear, hat, waterproof footwear, insect repellent and sunscreen

What else should I bring?

clipboard, pencils, small backpack, & refillable water bottle and/or mug.

What should I leave behind?

The following items are not permitted during the competition:

cell phones or electronic devices, field guides or any other test aids

What if the weather is bad?

The Envirothon is about being outdoors! Dress for the weather and bring your sense of adventure!

How does the Registration Process work on the morning of the event?

You will receive a registration checklist before the day of the event. Be sure to read it carefully and make sure you have the forms all signed and in order when you arrive. Provide final confirmation of team member names to registration volunteers. At the registration tables you will receive your team's schedule for the morning. Team presentation materials are transported to assigned presentation tent before competition.

What if my team is late?

Registration for teams closes at 8:30! You must be registered by 8:30 (or in line, if there is a line) to be guaranteed a chance to compete! We will do our best to offer a good experience to late teams, but they may not be able to participate in the competition.

What do the coaches do during the competition?

We do our best to provide coaches with a worthwhile experience. Coaches are assigned a schedule that keeps them apart from their team except to observe their team's Current Issue presentation. Activity options include: touring the stations, join a guided hike, and/or hear an introduction to next year's current issue. When in doubt about what to do, check in at the main tent.

How is the Envirothon competition scored?

There are 500 points possible. Every team with at least five members at the competition will have the opportunity to compete at all stations. Each of the four ecostation tests is worth 100 points, for a total of 400 points. The current issue presentation score is worth 100 points (each scoring judge awards up to 100 points, and these scores are averaged to determine the team's presentation score of up to 100 points).

What competition results will be available before we leave the Envirothon?

At the 2:00 pm Awards Program we expect to announce this year's Community Award recipients. Some competition results may also be available at that time. Complete competition results will be announced at 5:00 pm on May 12 via email, and posted on the website on Friday morning, May 13. We also expect to be able to provide each team with its complete Forest, Wildlife, Water, Soil, and Current Issue scores by the following Monday. Current Issue score and review sheets with comments from judges will be emailed a few days after the competition.

What do we need to do before we leave?

Stop by the Registration Tables for important information.

Return Evaluation surveys and all nametags.
